

Big Freight Rate Reduction to This City

Through the persistent efforts of the Chamber of Commerce, the C. & O. Railway Company has announced a reduction in freight rates from Louisville to this city, effective on interstate traffic October 12th, and on intrastate September 12. The new rate will make an average reduction of about 40 per cent, which was put on about a year ago. The new rate gives us the same as are now charged to Carlisle, Ky., and puts our merchants in a position to successfully compete with merchants from this point.

The new rate also makes it possible for Sharpshurg to secure the same rate from this city as they have been receiving from Carlisle, and it is expected that in the future our neighbors from Bath county will have their goods hilled through this city as they used to before when rates were equal from the two points.

Owing to changing classifications it is impossible to give comparative reduction so one could intelligently understand same, as in some cases certain classes were actually increased, but commodities effected were put in different classifications. However, Mr. McNeal, the local agent, assures us that he will be glad to tell any interested parties the old and new rates on any commodities on which they may desire information, but it would be practically impossible to go into detail and give the old and new rate on the numerous articles received and shipped through the local station. However, as an example as to how some articles are affected, the old rate on horses was $90.00, while the new rate is $30.50, making a reduction of $60.10 on the car. On stock cattle the old rate was $44.00, while the new rate is $35.00, making a reduction of $9.00.

At an early date, it is assured, a similar reduction will be made on the rates from Cincinnati.

The reduction in rates will put Mt. Sterling on a competitive basis with her sister cities and will save our merchants and farmers thousands of dollars annually. The Chamber of Commerce is indeed to be congratulated in its efforts in this direction as they have accomplished something really worth while and something that will directly effect every individual in the community. Our hats are off to this live organization for accomplishing something that this city has contended for for years, without results.

SUNDAY EVENING AT THE METHODIST CHURCH

The religious congregations of the city on Sunday evening met at the Methodist church to extend the glad hand of welcome to the incoming pastor, Rev. J. W. Crates, and to say goodbye to the beloved and outgoing pastor, Dr. J. L. Clark. The auditorium was taxed to its capacity. The music, instrumental and vocal, was inspiring and the sermon on peace as taught in the Sacred Book was presented in comparison with that peace which is a cessation of war overcome from an undisturbed conscience. The congregation was pleased with the new pastor and gave promise of co-operation. At the close of the sermon Dr. Clark spoke emphasizing the delivered thought closing with a double vision, looking forward to accomplishments for His glory and backward counting the blessing won in His name and expressing in tender, affectionate words the enjoyments of his two years' labor here and the many nets of kindness bestowed on him and his.

We say goodbye to Dr. Clark, a friend, tried and true, and bespeak for him and his family in his new field of labor the same sweet spirited kindness that has followed him in whatever fields he has served. The going of this good man severs a limb which if not welded here will be at that great day when He comes to claim His own. May the guiding hand and the strong arm of Jehovah be Dr. Clark's index and support and the time come one of these days when he will be returned to this city of mutual affection.

HUSTLERS DEFEAT REOS

In the third and deciding game of a three-game series the Winchester Hustlers defeated the Lexington Reos on the latter's field Sunday afternoon by the score of 4 to 1. Tommy Long, of the Louisville American Association team, was in the box for the Hustlers, while Jimmy Parks worked for the Reos. The Hustlers won the game in the first inning when "our own" little Jones, the first man up, doubled to center, starting the fireworks, and before the smoke had cleared away three runs had gone across and the game won. Park was more effective than Long, allowing only four hits, while his team mates secured nine off the Louisville star. The fielding of the Hustlers was gilt edge, while the Reos made several costly errors. By the winning of this game and the series Winchester is the undisputed champion of Central Kentucky, having one of the strongest semi-professional teams ever gotten together in this section.

A NEW STATION

The Diamond Petroleum Company has purchased the station on the railroad at the foot of Sycamore street and under management of L. D. Lockridge will begin operation October 1.

This company is strongly capitalized and is in every way equipped to meet competition.

Courtday Market Was Well Attended

At the stock yards on Monday there was a great crowd of native business men. It looked like the good old antehellum days.

There were about 5,000 head of extra good cattle on the market and the prices they brought were about as that of the month of August. The cattle were mostly products of Eastern Kentucky and the buyers were from Bath, Fleming, Nicholas, Fayette, Bourbon, Clark Madison, Montgomery and some came from other states to buy shippers. The bids were spirited and the pens which were filled were in a very short space of time emptied. The best steers brought $5.85 and mediums ranged in prices from $4.50 to $5.75. Bulls sold at $2.65 and milk cows ranged from $25 and upward, a few scrubs going for less money.

The usual traders were on the market and disposed of their holdings quickly. We cornered George Maze, a live wire trader, and from him got a few sale figures. He sold to Joe Hise one bunch of 105 sheep at $5.75 and another bunch of 75 head at $6.50; sold to Ed Peck 25 head of 700-pound steers at 5½ cents; to Peck & Sharp 70 heifers, 420 pounds, at 5½ cents; to Dan Welch a bunch of heifers at $4.20; to Tom Perry 14 500-pound steers at 5½ cents, and to divers other parties 60 head of mixed stock at an average of 4¾ cents; stock hogs to Dan Keath and Tom DeBoard, of Morgan county, at $9 per hundred. Mr. Maze purchased a fine saddle horse, paying $200 for him, and 75 head of extra good ewes at $6 per head.

The mule market was off with very few offerings. We heard of one bunch of weanlings of under size that sold at $25 per head and a few others at $37.50 per head. Plug hoppers brought $25 and the rise.

T. J. Bigstaff sold at public outcry a number of pure bred Poland China young boars at an average of around $15 per head.

We have a report from only a few of our merchants, and with them business was satisfactory.

William N. Hiler offered 55 acres of unimproved land at Spencer Station and rejected a bid of $167.50 per acre.

Traders were satisfied with their day's sales and George Maze started for Yellow Mountain in Knott county today to make purchases for the October court.

This is a record for street construction in this city, and as the entire job was of concrete, is one of which both Mr. Gwyn and the company which he represents may be justly proud. This company has now completed all the street work in this city and from appearances the work is highly satisfactory, and it will only be a few days until all the streets are opened for traffic.

HOME BREWING OF INTOXICANTS ILLEGAL

The hopes of home brewers, wine-makers and distillers came down with a dull sickening thud yesterday.

The prohibition unit of the treasury department issued a lengthy detailed statement declaring illegal:

1—The manufacture of any intoxicating beer, wine or spirits in the home, even for strictly private home consumption.

2—The manufacture of any beer or wine of any alcoholic content without a permit, which permits are not issued to home brewers and wine makers.

3—Sale of any hops or other "makings" to a person without a permit, which permits are not issued to home brewers.

Non-intoxicating fruit juice is all it is legal to make without a permit.

PRICE CUT WEEK IS NEW YORK PLAN

Plans for a "Business revival week" in New York, during which the merchants, hotel proprietors and railroads would be asked to reduce prices in order to stimulate buying and to bring trade to the city were included in a letter sent by Mayor John J. Hyman to Commissioner of Public Welfare Bird S. Coler, chairman of the committee on unemployment.

The plan was proposed as a part of a general scheme to relieve unemployment conditions by bringing into circulation a large amount of cash and providing employment for hundreds of men for at least one week.

The Industrial Aid Bureau of the committee will open an unemployment office in what was once known as the "Hotel e Gink," a free lodging house for the unemployed.

The bureau also has voted to call on the Federal Government to take care of more than 15,000 alien seamen who are stranded there, and to urge the Federal, State and municipal governments to put into operation plans for more than $300,000 worth of improvements as a means of providing employment.

FARMERS REALIZING VALUE OF SOYBEANS

Farmers are convinced of practical value of soybeans in the farm rotation as shown by the fact that the increase in the Kentucky acreage of this crop has been greatly increased during the past few years, according to a new bulletin which is being distributed to interested farmers of the State from the College of Agriculture. At the present time soybeans and cowpeas are the two legumes best adapted as substitutes for clover in the State and of the two soybeans are superior under most conditions, the publication states.

Soybeans produce good crops of hay and because of their freedom from attacks of disease and insects
and their ability to withstand drouth
they seldom fail to make good yields.
In addition they are valuable for the seed crop which they produce, according to the bulletin. The new publication was prepared by George crop specialist. It is No. 232 and

AUTOCRACY AND DEMOCRACY

The Cincinnati Times-Star in its issue of September 3, 1921, takes a whack at an address delivered August 31 by J. M. Beck on "The Spirit of Lawlessness."

The Times-Star touched on some demonstrated facts and presented some practical thoughts suggestive of thought and consideration. Yet it only partially touched facts in its conclusion, which is this, "In conclusion let us turn to the World War
in which democracy crushed autocracy."

Evidently the Times-Star had reference to Woodrow Wilson's declaration of war for democracy, the freedom of the seas and the world, which declaration went forth to the ends of the earth as a harbinger of inspiration. Thus his forceful and unprecedented declaration not only touched the pulse of the world, but it quickened it to a full realization of the absolute necessity for the enforcement of democracy, hence the world began to look at democracy
as the rising sun of its hope.

The Times-Star's view that it was the wisdom, sagacity, energy and efficiency of Woodrow Wilson
under a Democratic administration that gave confidence, strength and efficiency to democracy throughout the world, it knew that it was the enforcement of democracy under a Democratic administration for eight years that gave life vigor and prosperity to the entire nation. It also knew at the time the tobacco trust was crushing the tobacco growers
last year that a Republican Congress had the hands of President Wilson tied, and, therefore, he could not come to the assistance of the farmers and laborers as he hitherto had done.

The Times-Star knows that as soon as President Harding was elected the trust and combines and the great heads of our manufacturing industries shut down their plants and thrust toiling millions of laborers out on the cold charity of the world, but it dare not tell it.

All of this shifty connivance was put into actual play before President Wilson's term of office ended, and when a panic was apparent and autocracy again stood rampant, the whole blame was saddled on the Democratic administration, when, in fact, a Republican Congress could have come to the assistance of the tobacco growers and also protected
the toiling masses, which it failed to do. It was a Republican Congress that dominated the league covenant, fooled the people, gained the election and killed the league. It was a Republican Congress that dissected
our loyalty to democracy, the league covenant at home and abroad.

Now, if the Times-Star is disposed to be fair, and I think it is, let it give us the relative difference between autocracy and democracy under Woodrow Wilson's Democratic administration and President Harding's present Republican administration. In that event would not the Times-Star have to modify its conclusions and say, "The World War
in which democracy crushed autocracy in the east has failed in a political combat with the Republican party to crush it in the west. Ah, say Lord, it's too late now to be talking about the World War throughout the power of democracy crushing autocracy when it's a demonstrated fact that autocracy not only dominates our entire nation, but has its grip on our law officials who, no doubt, will shoot down the poor toiling laborers who made the conditions which have arisen possible by a wrong use of their ballots. I am heartily sorry for you, my fellow laborers; I have stood with you for a half century. I know you are very sick; go home, sit down and take your medicine; then look at your side of the matter and you will readily see where your political preference has put you. You saw at the last November election autocracy and democracy hanging on the cross of crucifixion. You heard the cry, as did I, "Whom shall I release unto thee, autocracy or democracy?"

their ballots said, "Release unto us autocracy and crucify the son of democracy." Hence we see the son of democracy laid in his new tomb
for the next four years.

Who will be first at his grave to roll away the stone at the appointed time of his resurrection and thus see him come forth in all of his beauty, grandeur and excellency? Yes, I say democracy, the bedrock of justice and equality, the bedrock on which our patriotic revolutionary fathers built our free institutions and thus maintained them until they were battered down by autocracy
and a Republican Congress. Go, ye blind leaders of the blind, who have hitherto been casting stones and dirt at the great Democratic party, and thus see what Webster says in his unabridged dictionary about democracy; then read what he says about a democrat and you will see a democrat is an adherent or a promoter of democracy, or government by the people. Hence, to be a loyal democrat is the next noble characteristic to righteousness.
Thus a loyal democrat stands in as high class as the moralist or the socialist.

The great mistake of the Democratic party hitherto has been a failure to educate the voting population on the principles of democracy. Possibly less than 20 per cent of the people don't know the meaning of democracy. Had the women prior to the last November election been educated on the principles of democracy, the Republican class legislation and their trickery
to gain elections, the nation's vote
last fall would have been very different from what it was.

I think but few Republicans know
the meaning of democracy. A certain Republican said to me during the last presidential campaign, "I stood with President Wilson until he declared for a world democracy;
that put me out with him." "Possibly so," said I, "and you would not know democracy were you to meet it in the big road." You Republicans are likened unto the Jews; they could never see that Jesus Christ

was the Son of God till they killed Him and brought darkness on the earth.

So likewise the Republican party has crucified the son of democracy afresh and put him to an open shame; hence we see not only lawlessness, but we see one widespread and alarming condition of depression throughout the land, and when extortion, oppression and autocracy reach their maximum revolution will inevitably follow.

In conclusion I will say under Woodrow Wilson's declaration of war for democracy, the freedom of the seas and the world we gained the victory, but in a political combat with the Republican party we lost democracy and the league;
hence autocracy stands rampant.

Big Audience at Tabb Theatre Hears Elizabeth Spencer in EDISON Tone-Test

In a test of direct comparison, made Thursday at The Tabb Theatre, before a large audience, the New Edison scored a complete and convincing triumph.

Elizabeth Spencer, the famous soprano, sang in direct comparison with the RE-CREATION of her voice by the New Edison. To every ear there was no difference between her living voice and her RE-CREATED voice.

This is the most drastic phonograph test known. No other phonograph has ever sustained it. No other phonograph has even attempted it.

The New Edison's marvelous performance of Thursday vindicates everything that has been said or claimed for its perfect realism.

Elizabeth Spencer stood on the stage next to a shapely Chippendale cabinet. She began to sing. Her golden notes soared over the auditorium, bringing all under its magic spell.

Halfway through her song, she suddenly stopped singing.

The New Edison, at her side, took up her song—and continued it alone.

Singer and phonograph thus alternated, throughout the song.

The only way the audience could be sure which was singing, was by watching Elizabeth Spencer's lips—so exactly like the living voice was the RE-CREATED voice.

Emil Bertl made the same test of comparison with the RE-CREATIONS of his piano selections. Again the same result—there was no difference between the RE-CREATED performance and the living performance.

Proof was piled upon proof! Evidence was massed on evidence! The end of the concert found the audience absolutely and completely convinced, through its own personal experience, that there is no difference between an artist's living performance and its RE-CREATION by the New Edison—that listening to the New Edison is, in literal truth, the same as listening to the living artists.

The NEW EDISON

"The Phonograph with a Soul"

Only one question can still bother your mind. This question we now answer.

The instrument used in Thursday's tests was NOT a special model. It was an Official Laboratory Model, taken from regular stock. Every Official Laboratory Model in our stock is guaranteed to sustain the same test of direct comparison with living artists.

You can have an Official Laboratory Model in YOUR home. You can own an instrument which will do everything done Thursday in the test. Come in. Hear the wonderful Official Laboratory Model for yourself. IF THE LORD SHOULD COME.

Did you ever have words like these to rise before your vision and refuse to down at your bidding?

Have you ever been engaged in act or thought that disturbed a quiet conscience? Have you retrospectively viewed trodden paths and worried. All men have at some time thoughts they would be ashamed to have thrown on a canvas, and to them we pass these lines from an unknown author:

"If the Lord should come in the morning

As I go to my work,

The little things and the quiet things

That the servant cannot shirk,

Though nobody ever sees them,

And only the dear Lord cares,

That they always are done in the light of the sun,

Would He take me unawares?

If the Lord should come at noonday,

The time of the dust and heat,

When the glare is white and the air is still

And the hoof beats sound on the street;

If my dear Lord came at noonday,

And smiled in my tired eyes,

Would it not be sweet His look to meet?

Would He take me by surprise?

If the Lord came hither at evening,

In the fragrant dew and dust,

When the world drops off its mantle

Of daylight like a husk,

And flowers in wonderful beauty,

And we fold our hands and rest,

Would His touch of my hand, His low command,

Bring me unhopd for rest?

Why do I ask and question?

He is ever coming to me,

Morning and noon and evening,

If I but have eyes to see,

And the daily load grows lighter,

The daily cares grow sweet,

For the Master is near, the Master is here,

I have only to sit at His feet.

$10,000 A DAY.

Should we talk advertising to some folks and name an appropriation of even a dollar a day they would either turn their backs on us or their toes to the daisies. Yet no business, it matters not the kind, can increase in volume without pressing advertising. We have in our very midst some very profitable remedies that are protected by our U. S. laws that are dominant. These remedies will continue inactive so long as the people are without the knowledge of them. Only men of nerve start at the bottom, count their wealth by millions, they advertised. Read this extract in regard to a five-cent package and take courage:

$10,000 a day is what our good friend, William Wrigley, Jr., of chewing gum fame, spends for advertising. His first advertising appropriation, it is reported, was for $300. That was some time ago, when he was just starting.

$10,000 a day, figure how many nickels it takes to meet this large sum. Wrigley says advertising is to business what the locomotive is to the train, disconnect the locomotive and you stop—no progress can be made.

There's an old saying, "Out of sight, out of mind," and Wrigley should know—he is worth millions, and advertising, combined with delivering the goods, turned the trick.

RECITAL ATTENDED

BY LARGE CROWD

Probably a large number of people who attended the recital given last Thursday night by Miss Elizabeth Spencer and Mr. Emil Bertl at the Tabb Theatre were at first puzzled and disappointed when they discovered a phonograph cabinet occupying the center of the stage.

They hardly were reassured when Mr. Bertl appeared on the stage and announced that Miss Sepceer had been delayed and, rather than disappoint the audience, a re-creation—he called it—of Miss Spencer would be played on the phonograph. Our suspicions were confirmed. We were to hear only a phonograph. But, little did we dream what an amazing phonograph it was. Miss Spencer's golden notes, emanating from the grille of the New Edison, soared over the auditorium in all their beauty. Suddenly we heard another voice, or rather the same voice, coming from the rear of the auditorium (or behind the scenes). Miss Spencer had arrived and was singing in unison with her re-created self. She continued singing while walking toward the New Edison. The effect of two voices, of the same exquisite quality coming from two different places, was indeed a new sensation and brought all under its magic spell. Miss Spencer reached the side of the New Edison and, during the remainder of the song, paused from time to time, apparently at random, and permitted her re-created performance to be heard alone. This gave an opportunity to compare one with the other, and it is no more than just to state that there was not the slightest shade of difference between re-created voice and original voice.

In the course of the evening similar tests were made by Miss Spencer with the same miraculous result. There must have been a slight difference in volume when the artists stopped singing or playing, but it was not noticeable for the tone which came from the cabinet was round and luscious with all the vibrant, pulsating quality of that which came directly from Miss Spencer's throat and the instrument. It was only by watching the singer's lips that one could be sure when she sang and when she did not.

The proof was convincing. If it were not, another proof was offered. After Miss Spencer had commenced to sing one number, the lights were turned out ostensibly so that the audience could not watch the singer's lips.

It did not seem difficult to determine in the dark when the singer sang and when she did not. The writer was pretty sure about it himself until the lights were turned on again and it was discovered that Miss Spencer was not on the stage at all and that the New Edison alone had been heard.

CANTRILL URGES BURLEY MEN TO POOL TOBACCO THIS YEAR

Congressman J. Campbell Cantrill returned to Lexington Saturday from his tobacco campaign in Henry county. He said he had had good crowds everywhere he had spoken and that the keenest interest was manifested. He said that he had found a number of growers who were ready to sign as soon as the proposition was explained to them and that he felt sure the house-to-house canvass to be put on this week by Chairman H. K. Bourne would result in putting the county very near, if not, over its quota.

"It is my firm conviction that the burley tobacco growers will make a serious mistake if they fail to include this year's crop in the marketing pool of the Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Association," said Mr. Cantrill. "If the growers adopt the idea that the plan is a good thing, but that they will adopt it next year, it simply means that they will lose a lot of money on this year's crop, which they otherwise would have made."

"It has been a source of great satisfaction to me that the big burley counties of Central Kentucky have responded so nobly to appeals to sign up their crops. Their action has been an inspiration to the surrounding counties and particularly to the northern tier of counties which formed the backbone of the old pools. That they will follow promptly the lead of Fayette and Woodford, Bourbon and Montgomery there is not the least doubt in my mind. It is important, however, that the growers act quickly and form their pool by November 15, so that they may have the benefit of government financing this year, which they will get if the permanent organization is formed."

FUNDS FOR GOOD

ROADS SOUGHT

The Kentucky legislature, in resolutions adopted by the Kentucky Good Roads Association in convention at Louisville last week, is urged to map out a taxation program through which additional road funds may be appropriated and also to submit to the people a $50,000,000 bond issue, of which amount $42,000,000 would be devoted exclusively to the state's primary road system and the remainder to educational, charitable and penal institutions and the state fair.

With a view to solving the nation's unemployment problem and to obtaining additional federal road aid, the delegates adopted another resolution asking Congress to make an emergency appropriation of $200,000,000 to be available immediately for road construction work in the United States.

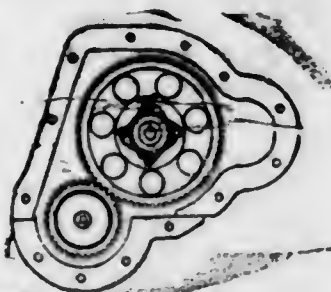

Robert J. McBryde, of Louisville, who headed the old Kentucky Good Roads body, was elected president of the association.

White L. Moss, state senator, presided at the session and J. C. Craig, of Paducah, acted as secretary of the convention.

In addition to the election of Mr. McBryde as president, the following were among those selected as vice presidents of the association:

E. J. Paxton, Paducah; C. H. Peetry, Mt. Sterling; William Burkamp, Newport; J. Curtis Aleock, Danville; Ben Williamson, Ashland; Harvey

Meyers, Covington; W. L. Edwards, Versailles; Judge H. H. Farmer, Henderson; Desha Breckinridge, Lexington; Harry Giovannoli, Lexington; and Judge G. W. Newman, Hawesville.

WEED SELLS WELL

Tobacco growers of Mt. Sterling and vicinity were heartened today by reports of tobacco sales on the North Carolina market, which indicate that prices for the leaf offered there are from 20 to 25 per cent. higher than last year. As the North Carolina and Virginia loose leaf markets are held in advance of the Kentucky market, they are considered a fair barometer of the general demand.

A story from Wilson says: "Official figures furnished by H. B. Johnson, supervisor of sales of the Wilson, N. C. market, shows that sales last Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday—the first three days of the 1921 season—totaled 1,408,032 pounds—an average of nearly a half million pounds a day. The tobacco during the three days sold for $296,011.80, an average of $21.02 per hundred pounds. Mr. Johnson, who is secretary and treasurer of the Wilson Tobacco Board of Trade, gives the figures as covering the sales week ending Sept. 6.

"The price average for the three days were: Tuesday, the opening day of the present season, $20.16 per hundred pounds; Wednesday, $22.9 per hundred pounds; Thursday, $20.81 per hundred pounds. Sales Thursday were the heaviest reported so far this season, totaling 555,194 pounds, and selling for $115,771.44.

"The Wilson market is holding up strong in percentage of good tobacco—for which there is a brisk demand, according to reports from there. There has appeared a tendency for stronger prices for the better grades and indications point to a still higher average for bright lugs, cutters and wrappers. There appears little prospect, however, of stronger prices for the common grades, which are selling at figures much out of proportion in comparison with the better grades. The low grades are averaging around $4 and $5 per hundred, with near medium grades running from $8 to $12. The upgrage in prices begins with bright lugs, which are in strong demand.

"Well posted tobaccoists believe the Wilson market will average around 25 cents a pound this season, an increase of 20 to 25 per cent. over last season's average. However, farmers will not get as much for this year's crop as they did last year as production is estimated at from 33 1-3 to 40 per cent. under the 1920 total."

VIRGINIA RAILROADS GETTING DOWN TO BUSINESS

The railroads of Virginia have cut freight rates on building and construction material to a point averaging only 10 per cent above the boom rates of the war period. The immediate result is increased activity to cover the house shortage and a volume of new business for the roads. This is the right way out of the railroad tangle, and a darned sight more profitable than groaning over hard times and doing nothing!

While the July net operating income for railroads generally shows a long-range increase over the month preceding, investors must bear in mind that a great share of this increase was brought about by decreased maintenance and equipment charges. Which means that sooner or later these deferred charges must be met with real cash.

While we are fundamentally bullish on the railroad situation as a whole, and emphatically advise the purchase of good rail shares now for the long pull, we are just as emphatic in counselling investors to select their purchases carefully and to refrain from indiscriminate commitments.

There are quite a number of low-priced railway stocks on the bargain counter these days which, in our opinion, are bound to sell higher in the not far distant.

KEEP UP THE SURVEY

People in many sections of Kentucky have been using rather expensive material in the construction of mediocre roads, according to the report of an eminent geologist who has just completed a survey of the State at the instance of the State Geologist. He found that valuable and paying strata have been encroached upon to provide metal for the roads and that travelers on these thoroughfares have been inhaling the dust of the rarest varieties of marble.

Ignorance of what Kentucky really possesses in the way of natural resources largely has been instrumental in retarding the development and progress of the State. Now that marble of varying types has been found to exist in paying quantities, speedy development may be looked for. This may lead to other valuable discoveries that may add to the commercial importance of the State's stone industry.

Only recently was it discovered that the Kentucky River cliffs produced the finest quality of calcite, a mineral used as the base of talcum and other delicate powders. As a result, this industry has been developed and made to pay. The same is true of barytes, fluor spar, rock asphalt and other minerals that add their part to Kentucky's commercial sum total. These discoveries and their development date back only a few years, but indicate the limitless resources of Kentucky in mineralogy. What has been accomplished would suggest that the survey and investigations be continued as practical and paying efforts. If funds are not available for this purpose the next Legislature should provide them.—Louisville Times.

SEE CULLING METHODS

Nine poultry culling demonstrations recently held in Nelson county were the means of showing more than 164 poultrymen of that district how to distinguish between the laying and the loafer hens in their flocks. The exhibitions of culling were staged in different communities of the county, those attending each one showing an unusual interest in the method, according to a report of the project. From one-fourth to one-third of the hens handled were found to be culls. Demonstrations on treating hens for lice also were given in connection with the culling work and bulletins and circulars on culling, feeding and managing poultry distributed to those interested. The demonstrations were conducted by County Agent C. L. Hill, who co-operated with the farmers of his county and the extension division of the College of Agriculture.

CHARACTER COMES FIRST; ASSETS ARE SECONDARY!

This is the rule by which the late J. Piermont Morgan judged the man behind the business proposition. Reputation is often manufactured propaganda. Character is not. If a man is worth millions, and if that is all he is worth, he is the kind of man Morgan did not want.

Build up a real character of your own. Emulate, but do not imitate others. It takes real character to buy stocks when they are on the bargain list and nobody wants them. But if you do, the day will come when everybody wants them at your price. Many a man is in favor of making the gospel fly, but he doesn't like to foot the bill for the wings.

FARM AND HOME NEWS FROM OVER KENTUCKY

A series of poultry demonstrations conducted in various communities of Washington county by county agent R. M. Heath cooperating with the College of Agriculture extension division and farmers have been the means of teaching approximately 128 of them how to tell the lonfer hen. A total of 262 culls were removed from 876 hens handled.

Calloway county farmers will give special attention to cover crops this fall, according to a report of County Agent J. B. Gardner. Community meetings which are being held to acquaint farmers with the value of these crops in protecting fields during the winter have been well attended, the report states.

With 35 members out of the 36 in the Fleming county pig club entered in the pig club show this event was one of the features of the county fair recently held at Ewing, a report from County Agent, H. F. McKenney states. All of the animals were in excellent condition, the winners in the pig club show taking first places in their classes in open competition.

More than 180 Carlisle county farmers have been taught how to distinguish between the laying and non-laying hen by means of eight poultry culling demonstrations recently held by County Agent, B. A. Hendley in cooperation with the extension division of the College of Agriculture.

An exceptionally large acreage of cover crops is expected to be planted by the Union county farmers this fall, a report from county agent A. M. Allen indicates. Many acres of rye have already been sown in corn fields.

Members of the Briar Hill junior agricultural club in Fayette county are observing different methods of feeding and managing their pigs by visits to different members of the club. A recent meeting of the club was devoted to a tour in which all boys raising pigs were visited.

GOVERNMENT AID IN MARKETING BURLEY ASSURED

Financial support from the federal government in marketing of the 1921 burley tobacco crop through the Burley Growers' Cooperative Marketing Association, organization of which is now nearly completed, was definitely assured yesterday following several conferences between representatives of the preliminary committee of burley growers and Treasury Department officials at Washington.

Two important results obtained from the conferences which, according to the committee representatives, guarantee the successful handling of the crop by the association are:

First, definite assurance given by the War Finance Corporation that if the burley growers organize under the proposed cooperative marketing plan, the corporation will give any application made by the association the same consideration that already had been given to similar organizations of cotton growers, advances to which have been in excess of 50 per cent. of the value of the crop.

Second, presentation to the Federal Reserve Board of a request for a ruling that growers' drafts on the association, accompanied by weight tickets, shall be classed as agricultural paper, and indication of the officials that a favorable reply may be expected which would entitle such paper to six months' credit rather than the three months allowed on commercial paper.

BETTER STOCK MOVEMENT MAKING RAPID PROGRESS.

With 203 farmers in 20 counties of the state enrolled in better sire—better stock campaign the movement for improved livestock in Kentucky is making rapid progress, according to a report of Wayland Rhodes, beef cattle extension specialist of the College of Agriculture. This number of farmers who are replacing scrub sires with purebreds is four times larger than it was Aug. 1, Mr. Rhodes said. Christian county with 52 farmers enrolled leads all counties of the State in the movement. Fulton, Larnie, Graves and Henderson follow in the order named.

Those enrolled are farmers who have agreed to use nothing but purebred sires on all their breeding stock. It is not necessary for farmers to keep all kinds of stock but all that is kept for breeding purposes must be mated to purebred individuals to make its owner eligible for membership in the movement. Any person who desires membership and is eligible should make application through his county agent or the college at Lexington, Mr. Rhodes said.

Many farmers have taken advantage of recent sales to obtain purebred animals with which to replace their scrub sires. More than 135 purebred bulls were distributed to different farms of the State as a result of a sale held in the first part of June while a similar sale during August resulted in 200 purebred rams being sold to sheep raisers of the State.

Veteran of Civil War Still Hale and Hearty

GEORGE D. SHAW, Springfield, Mass.

"To say that I feel twenty-five years younger, twenty-five years healthier and twenty-five years stronger express what Tanlae has done for me better than any other way I can put it," said George D. Shaw, veteran of the Civil War, who now lives at 321 Walnut Street, Springfield, Mass.

"I am now seventy-eight years old and I don't hesitate to say I have never known a medicine to equal Tanlae. For fifteen years I was subject to attacks of indigestion that were so bad at times I would have to lay up for a week or two. For a long time I lived on crackers and milk alone as nothing else agreed with me.

"When I started on Tanlae I weighed only one hundred and seventeen pounds and my days were thought to be numbered. I've been so wonderfully built up, I now weigh one hundred and forty-three pounds and my stomach is as sound as a dollar. In fact, I believe I could eat the old army rations again without it hurting me in the least.

"I never miss a chance of saying a good word for Tanlae and I would like to urge the boys of the 'Sixties' who are not feeling right to give it a trial, for I am sure it would put them in line again just as it has me. For a man of my age to have no physical ailment, to be well and strong and enjoy life as he did twenty-five years ago, is certainly something to be thankful for and there is nothing too good I can say for Tanlae."

Tanlae is sold in Mt. Sterling by Land & Priest and leading druggists everywhere.

In a few minutes Eddie came running back and reported: "She said it was none of your business."

"Just what you told me to," replied the little innocent. "I told her you wanted to know how old she was."

WILL BOOST HOME PAPERS

"Subscribe to your home town paper."

This is the slogan of a new-nation-wide movement backed by the National Editorial Association and other agencies.

The movement has back of it far more than a selfish desire on the part of newspapers to acquire increased circulation, for it is, in effect, a step toward the perfect unification of America by the strengthening of ties that bind everyone to his native soil.

The campaign is, moreover, an excellent opportunity to boost the home town. The men and women who were born and reared here have, some of them, been away for many years and many important changes have taken place—changes in which they would be greatly interested. It is more often the case than not that private correspondence overlooks these changes, however careful one might attempt to write "the news" in a letter.

The newspaper, on the other hand, prints all the items of interest, large and small, and is the ideal medium through which to keep in touch with in the old home town.

In order to stimulate this movement we are this week offering an extra copy of The Advocate to every subscriber who calls or writes for it. This extra can be sent, with a special subscription blank which we will furnish, to any member of the family who is away from home. Or, if preferred, we will mail a copy free of charge to anyone you designate. Do it now.

PRODUCE REVIEW

Receipts of eggs have been lighter during the week, with some advance in prices for really fine stock.

Less cream has been received at creameries, resulting in a firmer feeling and higher prices. Good demand continues for current consumption.

An advance in the market on fowl and chickens has been reflected in producing sections, but it is regarded as of a temporary character and heavier marketing is expected.

The large number of Leghorn chickens reaching market was particularly noticeable and buyers are discriminating in favor of the larger breeds, resulting in lower prices being paid for Leghorns and smaller varieties of chickens.

AT IT NOW

Henry Ford has decreased the prices on the Ford product and has increased the price of his labor, added 50 per cent to the volume of his business and his net profits are in advance of those of olden times. How this was done: Ford has not only continued his advertising, but has increased his space. This is the way it was done. Competition knocked the Ford, but Ford just pressed on making and showing his own products, advertising at his end of the line and demanding the same from his agents. Think on these things, act and increase your business fifty per cent.
